

I'm afraid that's outside the scope of this meeting

1. Discuss the questions.

- How often do you take part in meetings at work? How useful and relevant are they? What do you discuss?
- How would you describe a productive meeting?
- What are some of the obstacles to productive meetings?

2. Watch a video [https://youtu.be/K7agjXFFQJU] about a business meeting and see if any of the obstacles you mentioned in ex. 1 made it unproductive.

3. Look at the extracts from the video and complete each gap with a verb in the box in the correct form.

be catch emphasize implement put take throw

- I just wanted to a few minutes and talk about the marketing strategy this year. If you've got one, just it out there.
- Sorry I'm a couple of minutes late. I got in traffic.
- I think we should Pinterest.
- OK, I just want to that there are no bad ideas here. We're just brainstorming.¹
- Who knows how to this on the screen up there? Because I want you to see all the details. Do we have the cables? Does this cable work?
- I think you onto something with this idea. I really like it. Carol, did you get that down?

4. Watch the video again and check what the reactions to the comments in ex. 3 were.

¹ In the video you can hear 'there's no bad ideas'. However, the word ideas is plural, so the correct form is 'there are no bad ideas'.

I'm afraid that's outside the scope of this meeting

5. Discuss the questions.

- What was the objective of the meeting in the video? To what extent was it achieved?
- What could have been done to make the meeting from the video more productive?
- Which of the obstacles presented in the video are the most annoying to you during work meetings?

6. Read the information in the box and answer the questions.

A meeting facilitator is a person whose job it is to make a meeting run smoothly and efficiently. A meeting facilitator can be the person who runs the meeting, one of the meeting participants, or an outsider whose job is only to facilitate dialogue and the decision-making process. Meeting facilitation requires confidence and people skills.

- Is anybody assigned the meeting facilitator role in your business meetings? How do they help? If there isn't, do you think such a function could be useful?
- What other skills does a person need to be a good meeting facilitator?
- How did people in the video try to facilitate the meeting? Were their reactions relevant and/or successful?
- Is meeting facilitation something you are or would be good at? Why/Why not?

7. Match the words below to create steps in facilitating meetings.

- | | |
|-----------------------|----------------------|
| a) invite | 1) an agenda |
| b) set | 2) progress |
| c) focus on | 3) relevant people |
| d) encourage everyone | 4) the objectives |
| e) monitor | 5) the key takeaways |
| f) share | 6) to speak |

8. Look at the steps in ex. 7 again and discuss the questions.

- How does each of the steps make a meeting productive? What difficulties might happen if they are not taken?

I'm afraid that's outside the scope of this meeting

- Would you use all the steps, or add any, for the following meetings:
 - a weekly status update meeting with the aim of catching up on work progress and discussing any relevant issues
 - a meeting aiming to understand and solve a problem, e.g. decreases in sales
 - a presentation about new software your company is going to implement

9. Complete the gaps with one word each.

- I'd like to get your feedback
- I'm afraid that's the scope of this meeting.
- I think we are getting topic.
- I would like to point that...
- I think you're something with this idea.
- Are we the same page about...?
- Let me run what we've agreed on.
- Let's move to the next item.
- What ideas have you come with?

10. Decide which of the sentences in ex. 9 could be used to do the following.

- encourage meeting participants to speak
- focus on the meeting objectives
- monitor the meeting progress
- share the key meeting takeaways
- emphasize the importance of something

11. You are a meeting facilitator. Decide what you would say in these situations.

Use the words in brackets instead of the underlined items.

- You want to talk for a bit about the next item on the agenda. (minutes)

.....

- You want to encourage your colleagues to share the ideas they have. (throw)

.....

I'm afraid that's outside the scope of this meeting

c) A colleague is getting off topic. (scope)

.....

d) You want to present the meeting agenda. (run)

.....

e) You want to emphasize that the participants still haven't made a decision.
(point)

.....

f) You want to make sure that a colleague has the same idea as you about the task they need to do. (page)

.....

g) You want to start talking about the next item on the agenda. (move)

.....

12. You work in an order management team at a company selling juices. You are having a weekly status update meeting. Your teacher will give you a role play card. Use the phrases provided while discussing some of the topics listed. If there is a problem, try to come up with some solutions. Before you start the role play, think about how you can create a context for the phrases.